

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

[0050] An information alert system and method are provided. Content from various sources, such as television, radio and/or Internet, are analyzed for the purpose of determining whether the content matches a predefined alert profile, which is manually or automatically created. An alert is then automatically created to permit access to the information in audio, video and/or textual form.

PCT/US2007/003309